

FIX CANON PRINTER IS OFFLINE MAC ERROR

Canon Printer Is Offline Mac Troubleshooting Methods :

Check Wired Connectivity

If you are using a wired internet connection then check all the wires if properly inserted into the ports or not. Apart from that, turn off both the printer and the router. Then remove all the wires from all the ports. Let it to be off for a while and then plug in all the wires again into the ports. Turn ON the printer and the router and try to print something out of it.

Check Wireless Connectivity

In case you are using a wireless connection then try to turn off the router and the printer. Reboot them both and turn them ON after some time. After the system gets to reboot completely, click on the apple icon and from there select on "system preferences". You will see then a number of options, from those options select "printers and scanners". Choose your printer and start printing again like before.

And At Last...

To solve the issue of Mac Says Printer Is Offline you just need to follow the steps that have been mentioned above. All of them are so easy but we understand that most of you may get stuck on some points and that is why we have given our helpline numbers which are round the clock available.

Contact Us

Call Us      USA/Canada: +1-888-272-8868
UK: +44-800-041-8324

Website      <http://printerofflineerror.com/>