We make the process of sourcing & buying bulk inventories easy, transparent, reliable, and hassle-free. Buying & selling stock lots became simple right away with just a click. There is a growing need for the market demand surplus outsourcing of products where we step in.

Stock liquidation is, if a product does not sell as well as they had hoped, they often have quite a lot left over at the end of the season. These stock lots are still brand-new and in perfect condition, but the store has to get rid of them to make room for the next season's products. Many retailers liquidate their overstocked inventory in bulk auctions, selling pallets, or even truckloads of quality products at deep discounts. Resellers buy these overstock items for pennies on the dollar and then sell them at a mark-up, creating a profitable business and great deals for their buyers.

As it is a first-ever business that takes someone's surplus stock headache to make someone's opportunity, will keep the market running and demanding. With all-new colors and faces, we are on market available to be in the market and make it running. Rack37 is the one-stop solution for all your buying & selling needs for your surplus stock & stock lot liquidation.
